

Indigenous Health Research Ethics in Clinical Research Symposium

April 16th, 2024

Photo Notification

This event is a collective effort to engage with and understand Indigenous health research ethics in clinical research, and your participation is highly valued. You can expect that someone from our organization(s), or several people, may be taking photographs to keep a digital record of the event*. The purpose of any photos collected at the event is to help represent the work of the BC Network Environment for Indigenous Health Research (BC NEIHR), Michael Smith Health Research BC (Health Research BC), and the BC SUPPORT Unit.

Please read the following information carefully.

- Participation in photographs is completely voluntary. You have the right to refuse to be photographed without any impact on your participation in the symposium.
- If you allow BC NEIHR, Health Research BC, and the BC SUPPORT Unit may use the images in all forms of media (including printed materials, public display, published in book form and electronic reproduction and dissemination through social media platforms and the organizations' websites) only if they relate to this event.
- If you do not wish to be photographed, please let the organizer of the event know. The person to contact is Sara Lima Branco at sbranco@healthresearchbc.ca. Or upon arrival, please ask for Sara at the front/registration desk. BC NEIHR, Health Research BC, and the BC SUPPORT Unit will make every reasonable effort to remove my image from photos.
- If at any time following the event you would like your photo be returned/deleted, please contact Sara Lima Branco at sbranco@healthresearchbc.ca.

Thank you in advance for participating in this important event.

*We cannot guarantee that photos taken by other attendees will exclude your photo.